

Director's Report

Wednesday, October 14, 2020

Programs: We haven't had another park story time. Now that tourism has slowed down we can hold story time in the courtyard in the afternoons, weather permitting. We had 6 for our read harder discussion. Book club is scheduled for October 28. We will read People of the Book by Geraldine Brooks. Julie Rember will lead the discussion. We'll choose our next book at the meeting.

The new circulation system is live and everything seems to be working quite smoothly. Cataloging is actually easier (less steps), and the system is quite user friendly.

I've been really lax about posting on Facebook. If anyone would like to take over our social media, I'd be happy to hand it over. I can also continue to contribute. Or we can leave it as is, and maybe someday I'll be more inclined to post again.

Director vacation: I would like to take next week off to take care of my granddaughter for a week. Phil has been quarantined long enough to work next week, and subs could also fill in. Quarantine after Oaklyn leaves?
