

Citizen Science at the LIBRARY

Wednesday, May 5th on Zoom

◆ 5:30 pm ◆ Long-billed Curlews ◆

Long-billed Curlew populations of southwestern Idaho are declining at an alarming rate, placing them on Idaho's "Species of Greatest Conservation Need" list.

Heather Hayes, research biologist and Community Science Coordinator for the Intermountain Bird Observatory (IBO) in Boise, will tell us about these charismatic birds. Learn about their habitats, nesting requirements, and migratory journey as well as how IBO research and satellite technology is uncovering some of the curlew's mysteries and connecting communities across international borders.

Join us by signing up for Library emails or check our website for Zoom link and updates!!

Stanley Library
240 Niece Avenue
P.O. Box 230
Stanley, ID 83278
208.774.2470
stanley.lili.org

Regular Hours

Mon	Noon - 6 pm
Tues	Noon - 4 pm
Wed	Noon - 4 pm
Thur	Noon - 6 pm
Fri	10am - 6 pm
Sat	10am - 6 pm
Sun	Closed

Access to the World through Books and So Much More